

£340k fines for parents puts county at top

SUFFOLK is the most prolific county in the country for issuing fines to parents when their children don't attend school.

According to figures released in response to a Freedom of Information request from lawyers Simpson Millar, the county issued 5,668 fines during the 2015/16 school year.

The fines add up to a whopping £340,080 – although they were not all paid, as 709 of them were withdrawn after being issued.

The second most prolific county was Lancashire, which issued 5,654 fines, but didn't withdraw any of them.

In comparison, Cambridgeshire issued just 748 fines, adding up to £44,880.

The number of fines issued by Suffolk is around the same as the 5,691 issued by the 27 least prolific counties combined.

A spokesperson for Suffolk County Council said that the reason for the rise in the number of fines being issued was that schools had told them the warning letters they previously issued were not effective.

They said the fines had resulted in a fall in the number of pupils classed as persistently absent – meaning they have missed 15 per cent of school sessions.

This number fell from 4,702 in 2011/12 to 2,733 over the last school year. This is a drop from 5.58 per cent to 3.21 per cent.

The spokesperson said: "We support schools in reporting unauthorised absences and these figures reflect that attendance is being enforced in Suffolk."

She said that the decision to issue a fixed penalty notice lay with the school and not the local authority.

She continued: "Any money from fines collected is ring-fenced and reinvested into preventing non-attendance. The county attendance team look at the underlying issues for the reasons for lateness or non-attendance and will, where notified by the school that there is an issue, work with the school to provide help and support to the family to get the child into school on time."

CRACKDOWN: Sniffer dog Yo Yo with Operational Support Officer Jen Bird

Man arrested after visit by sniffer dog

A 61-YEAR-OLD man has been arrested after a sniffer dog came to Haverhill as part of a "illegal tobacco roadshow".

Sniffer dog Yo Yo was part of a team touring Suffolk explaining to residents how they help Trading Standards crack down on illegal tobacco.

The team visited Haverhill on October 13 and spoke to 67 people, receiving 14 pieces of intelligence.

On the basis of this they were able to arrest a 61-year-old man on suspicion of supplying illegal tobacco.

Trading Standards are now working with another agency to investigate the matter further.

Illegal tobacco can contain harmful substances such as wood chippings and rat poison.

TRANSPORT

New bid to end lorry problem

JOINT efforts are being made to find a solution to the problem of hundreds of lorries coming into Haverhill.

A meeting called by the town's Chamber of Commerce was attended by two Local Enterprise Partnerships (LEPs), councillors and managers from three tiers of local government and West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock. It was held at Culina in Icen Way.

It is estimated that 500 lorries come into the town every day, and the chamber says that without a lorry park, the volume of traffic causes problems for residents.

John Mayhew, of the Haverhill Chamber, said: "Residents have already complained about lorries parking up in residential streets, where there are no facilities for the drivers. There is the nuisance of noise and litter. Many of the lorries coming to the town have travelled from Europe and therefore planned arrival at logistics companies based in Haverhill can be difficult to estimate. The result is they have to park up and there are simply no facilities.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

"The town is scheduled to grow further with more homes and businesses due to be built here. We need to develop a plan and then deliver it for the benefit of local haulage companies, lorry drivers, other businesses and the wider Haverhill community.

"At this stage, we are looking for solutions both close to Haverhill and further afield as well."

Suffolk County Council is set to conduct a major traffic survey in Haverhill before the end of the year.

Participants at the meeting agreed that they would use the data collected using automatic numberplate recognition (ANPR) technology to decide how to push the lorry park project forward.

Mr Mayhew said: "It was great that so many organisations recognised the importance of the issue and spent time discussing ideas and options together to find a solution that works for all."

PARKING

Hopes for football car park

WORK is being done to tackle the problem of motorists parking on verges and pavements near a sports ground.

The problem at the New Croft in Haverhill's Chalkstone Way came to light after a match between the town's two teams, Haverhill Rovers and Haverhill Borough, last month. Councillors said that 200 cars were parked on pavements and verges.

Town councillors John Burns and Tony Brown, and town clerk Colin Poole, met with representatives from Haverhill Community Sports Association (HCSA), which runs the New Croft, and representatives from borough and county councils, to discuss the problem.

Cllrs Brown and Burns provided feedback from the meeting to a town council meeting on Tuesday.

They said that stakeholders agreed that the best solution was to extend the New Croft's current car park into a derelict former substation site next to the sports ground.

Cllr Brown said: "We really need a long-term solution around using that substation site. There's room for potentially dozens of cars."

He said HCSA was also looking at short-term solutions.

CRIME

Decoder may be used by thieves

POLICE think thieves may be using a decoding device to remotely unlock vans – after more than £15,000 worth of tools were stolen in Haverhill.

A spate of thefts from vans in the town between October 11 and 15, follows four incidents in a single night between October 4 and 5.

Police are linking the incidents and say thieves may have used a decoding device.

This allows them not only to unlock the vans without any sign of damage to the vehicle, but also to disable the vehicles' built-in alarms and immobilisers.

In one incident in Haverhill's Shetland Road on October 15, two men were seen to somehow remotely unlock a Ford Transit before removing tools from inside.

They took £900 worth of equipment.

In an incident at 2.25am on October 15, several men were seen trying the door of a Ford Transit in Hales Barn Road, before making off after being disturbed.

Overnight between Octo-

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

ber 11 and 12, thieves targeted vans in Ickleton Place, Arrendene Road and Abbots Road. They took tools worth £1,720, £300 and £1,275 from the three vehicles.

Between October 12 and 13, vans in Horsham Close, Calford Drive and Langham Way were targeted. In these instances, tools worth £500, £860 and £2,000 were taken.

Overnight between October 14 and 15, vans in Arrendene Road and Constable Road had tools worth £540 and £2,600 stolen.

The silver Ford Transit targeted in Langham Way showed signs of having its door forced open with a crowbar. All of the others had been left secure by their owners and showed no signs of a forced entry.

The thefts follow four that took place overnight between October 4 and 5 in Crowland Road, Greenwood Close, Templars Court and Squires Court. Almost £5,000 worth of tools were stolen then.

Police say it is important for van drivers to lock their vehicles and set the alarm and immobiliser, but they are urging further action to protect vehicles from decoding devices.

Measures include removing tools or installing secure storage within the vehicle, as well as parking in a secure compound or with the doors up against a wall.

You can also find out about installing aftermarket locks and alarms at thatchams.org, and find out about registering your tools at immobilise.com.

Police also suggest installing CCTV that sends a notification when activated.

Police urged anyone offered tools in suspicious circumstances to contact them on 101, or call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Bereaved mother hits £1.5k fundraising target

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A MUM whose premature baby daughter died has raised £1,500 to buy a "cuddle cot" for a maternity hospital.

The cot keeps cool the body of a baby who has died so that parents can stay with it for longer.

Nothing like it was available when Sarah Kirkby lost her daughter, Jennifer, 25 years ago.

Jennifer was born at 26 weeks and survived for just seven days at The Rosie maternity hospital in Cambridge.

Sarah, who moved from Haverhill to Great Abington three years ago, has spent the last three months tirelessly fundraising for the cuddle cot.

She began fundraising for the Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust (ACT) – which helps The Rosie – four years ago after she was struck down with a chronic pain condition, but this is the biggest fundraising drive she has undertaken.

She has been battling her condition, known as fibromyalgia, to run a stall at Haverhill's Summer Bash, an online auction and a raffle, as well as selling her own woodwork online.

"I was doing it morning, evening and night," she said. "I was meeting people in Haverhill, I went on the radio to advertise."

"How many hours I dread to think – I was at it non-stop!"

Her friend Edmond Lyons-Davies helped out by undergoing a sponsored leg wax.

Now Sarah has raised all the cash for the cuddle cot, as well as £60 for a plaque dedicated to Jennifer. She has handed over the money to ACT and the charity has ordered the cuddle cot.

"It's satisfying to know that [bereaved parents] can have the extra time that obviously I couldn't have," she said. "It's nice to know that should someone have to go through what I did, they have got the extra time and support."

To support Sarah's continuing fundraising, search "boxesforu" on Facebook.

Pupils mark harvest with food gifts

SCHOOLS in Haverhill have been donating to the town's food bank to celebrate harvest time.

At St Felix Roman Catholic Primary School, 101kg of food was donated to REACH Community Projects' Haverhill food bank.

Westfield Primary Academy said their collection for the food bank this year was the best yet.

Headteacher Nicky Tyler said: "We are delighted with how the collection has gone - it has really highlighted how generous our school community is."

Ann Merrigan, from REACH, thanked St Felix, while Henry Wilson of the charity said parents and pupils at Westfield had been "fantastic".

The charity hands out food boxes to those in need.

HOUSING

'We're tackling town problem'

PUBLIC organisations are working to tackle problems at multiple-occupancy houses in Haverhill.

Last week, the News reported residents' fears for their own safety living near homes where people have drug and alcohol abuse problems.

At a meeting with Suffolk's Chief Constable and Police and Crime Commissioner, one resident described how four of her neighbours were seeking home exchanges because of the problem. One councillor likened the problem to the Wild West.

But this week agencies said they are working to tackle the problem.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council has responsibility for licensing houses of multiple occupancy (HMOs).

A spokesman said: "We have an inspection programme to check for HMOs across West Suffolk, and to check that they are maintained up to living standards. In terms of tackling criminal activity such as drug dealing and anti-social behaviour, we will continue to work with the police and our local ward members to try to address this issue."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Meanwhile, community partnership ONE Haverhill has been talking to a landlord of some of these houses as part of its work to tackle anti-social behaviour in the town.

Chairman of ONE Haverhill, John Mayhew, said: "The more I have looked at this the more I think this is exactly the kind of area where the stakeholders in ONE Haverhill could be making a valid contribution."

The group's anti-social behaviour task group includes the town's police inspector Danny Cooper, as well as Henry Wilson, of poverty reduction charity REACH.

At the group's last board meeting in September Insp Cooper spoke about how the group had met with a landlord to discuss the issue.

Mr Mayhew said he hoped ONE Haverhill would be able to put together a firm plan of action for how to tackle the issue after its December board meeting.

He said: "It does seem to me that landlords are the crucial cog in the wheel in all of this, and somehow if you are going to make an impression on HMOs you have got to engage with the landlords and the people who represent them."

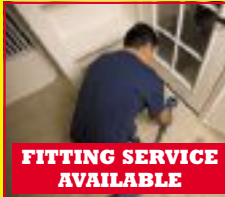

There are HMOs in Haverhill that provide support to their residents, such as the houses operated by the Cambridge Pringle Group.

Its houses are regularly maintained and inspected and residents have one-to-one meetings with welfare advisors.

'LEGEND': Robert Clifton-Brown taking part in the Thurlow Hunt. Picture: Stephen Wain

'Unique mayor' dies at 87

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A "LEGEND" who served as a councillor for 26 years has died aged 87.

Robert Clifton-Brown died on October 8, leaving behind four children, as well as grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

He was a member of St Edmundsbury Borough Council for Withersfield for 26 years, until 2015.

He served as Mayor of St Edmundsbury for the year 2002/3.

John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said: "I learned of Robert's death with great sadness and offer heartfelt condolences to his family on behalf of all councillors and staff (both past and present) at St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

"He was a wonderful man and a unique Mayor of St Edmundsbury, amongst so many other achievements.

"I first met him when I was 12 years old, as a friend of my father.

"He was always excellent company and great fun, interesting and interested about everything.

"He was also a dedicated, respected and popular colleague at St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

"Robert was dedicated to his family and to serving the people of West Suffolk.

"He was a legend and will be much missed and very fondly remembered by us all."

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after vandals daubed graffiti on a town centre shop in broad daylight.

The incident took place around 1.50pm on Wednesday, October 12, at the Ipswich Building Society's branch in Haverhill High Street.

Police are investigating what happened, but are also asking anyone who was in the area or saw anything suspicious to call them on 101. You can also call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

NOW OPEN: Nine Jars bistro in the High Street

DEVELOPEMNT

Corks pop as bistro opens

CHAMPAGNE was served when a new bistro opened in a building which had been empty for three years.

Nine Jars opened in the former Bell Hotel in High Street, Haverhill, on Saturday.

Joint owner Daniel Pilley said the restaurant was fully booked on its opening night, attracting 150 people.

"It went absolutely fantastically," he continued. "We have been fully booked every night in the restaurant."

The historic building, which has been operating as a town centre pub since the 1800s was acquired by brothers Robin and Daniel Pilley, who run CXG Lettings, last November. Renovations got under way in the spring.

Daniel said Nine Jars was intended to be a different kind of food venue to others in the town, serving morning coffee and lunches in a cafe environment before transforming into a restaurant in the evening.

He said: "Everyone's so complimentary and saying it's great to have a place that you would normally have in London or Cambridge

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

in Haverhill."

The Bell Hotel closed in November 2013 and a plan to convert it into a shop and 11 flats in 2014 never went ahead.

The renaming of the building caused controversy on social media last month, with some users arguing that a piece of the town's heritage should not be renamed.

But since the restaurant opening Facebook users have been positive about the bistro, with one posting: "At the bistro and I have to say it's very lovely."

CXG also hopes to open the rest of the Bell as a hotel some time in 2017.

Daniel said that the hotel would be run as an entirely separate company to Nine Jars.

Appeal for parents to apply now

THERE are just 11 days left to apply for your child's place at a secondary school.

Suffolk County Council is urging parents to get their applications in before the deadline.

Parents are encouraged to put more than one preference down, and are reminded that even living next door to a school does not guarantee a place there.

If a school has more applications than places, things will be decided according to the oversubscription criteria.

Every child needs an application form.

County council cabinet member for education Gordon Jones said: "I would urge all parents and carers to make a full application by the closing date of October 31 to give them the best chance of securing a place at one of their preferred schools. It is possible to list a maximum of three schools on the application form."

To complete the application form visit suffolk.gov.uk/admissions

People rattled by noisy problem

RESIDENTS have been plagued by a sunken drain with a loud, rattling cover for three months – as the council couldn't find out who was responsible for it.

Businesses near the drain, which is on the driveway to the car park behind the Corn Exchange in Haverhill's Withersfield Road, say that it causes problems for residents, motorists and pedestrians.

Diana Garrod, of Haverhill Chiropractic Centre in Withersfield Road, claimed that council contractors doing work on nearby Haverhill House had been driving trucks into the car park causing the drain to sink.

She said: "The builders have put a great big metal plate over it. It rattles like crazy and wakes everybody up. Residents here are so frustrated."

She said the problem had been going on for about three months.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Tanya Andrews, who works at Advantage Windows next to the driveway, said: "It's dangerous, the uneven ground."

She uses the car park as she drives to work, and said the metal plate had caused problems for her as a motorist. She said that the sunken drain was dangerous for pedestrians walking in and out of the car park.

Both she and Mrs Garrod pointed out that the problem had not been fixed despite the fact that St Edmundsbury Borough Council introduced charges to use the car park earlier this year.

They said this should mean the council took responsibility for maintaining the driveway.

But a spokesperson for St Edmundsbury – which does own the car park itself – said it did not know who owned the driveway.

He said: "We don't own the road, it's not adopted and we are trying to establish who the legal owner is so that they will carry out the necessary repairs."

Mrs Garrod said that she had complained to Suffolk County Council, which is the highways authority.

But a spokesperson for Suffolk County Council said that repairing the driveway was not a matter for Suffolk Highways as it was a private road.

He said the council had received a report of a rattling drain cover, which it had passed on to Anglian Water.

A spokesperson for Anglian Water said that its local technicians would be inspecting the site over the coming week.

Primary school is given green light for expansion

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A PRIMARY school is celebrating after winning permission to build a new education block ready for next year.

The extension will mean Clements Community Primary School will be able to accommodate 420 pupils – up from its current 297.

School bursar Lyn Kiernan told the News that contractors were set to be on site in January, with the first classrooms in use at the start of the 2017/18 school year.

She said the school would gradually expand year-on-year until it reached capacity at 420 pupils. She said this may involve hiring more staff.

The new building is set to comprise four classrooms, and a classroom inside the current building, which opened in 2011, is set to be expanded.

The block – which is set to be used by pupils in Years Five and Six – will also include a group room and a plant room.

Mrs Kiernan said: "Haverhill

EXCITED: Clements Primary's School Council celebrate the launch

is just expanding in a huge way. Haverhill is just growing, and the children need to go to school."

She added that staff and students at Clements Primary were "very excited" about the new block.

The project is being funded by

Suffolk County Council to ensure that parents are able to secure a school place close to their home address.

Coupals Primary Academy in Chalkstone Way is also set to be expanded in a £1.6million project that will almost double its size.

Free treats in store for Hallowe'en

FREE Hallowe'en events during half term week are set to provide treats, not tricks for Haverhill youngsters.

On Friday, October 28, Haverhill Town Council's annual Hallowe'en Trail will be taking place in the town's East Town Park.

Starting at 7pm, with last entry at 7.45pm, there will be spooky surprises lurking in the trees and bushes of the park.

Some of the trail is not suitable for buggies and sensible shoes should be worn, but dressing up as a creepy character is encouraged.

The following day, a special Hallowe'en market is set to be held in Haverhill's Market Square.

Organised by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, the market will include face painting, apple bobbing and a treasure hunt, as well as a roundabout ride.

Borough councillor Peter Stevens said: "Half term week is approaching, so naturally parents and grandparents will be looking for inexpensive ideas to entertain the children, if only for a short while.

"You can shop on the market and watch your children or grandchildren as they join in a treasure hunt, win a prize, bob for apples and then get their faces painted – all for free. So join in the magic."

JUSTICE

Video link set up after court shuts

VULNERABLE victims and witnesses are now able to testify via video link after the closure of Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court.

The court closed its doors on October 5, leaving Haverhill residents with an 80-mile round trip to get to court in Ipswich.

MP Matthew Hancock told the News that Haverhill's local justice would now take place in Cambridge.

But the Ministry of Justice said that while civil and family cases will be heard in Cambridge, criminal cases will be listed at Ipswich.

They said that relocating these cases was a matter for the independent judiciary.

They said had set up a video link at Bury St Edmunds so that not all victims and witnesses had to make the trip.

A Ministry of Justice spokes-

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

person said: "We have established video link facilities in the remaining Bury St Edmunds County Court building, so that vulnerable victims and witnesses can give evidence from the Bury St Edmunds area."

Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore is calling for six-month stay of execution on the closure of the magistrates' court.

He is set to meet with courts minister Oliver Heald and Suffolk MPs Jo Churchill and Peter Aldous tomorrow to discuss providing alternative access to justice for West Suffolk residents.

PERFECT PINES: Our guide to picking and tending your Christmas tree

WHEN TO BUY?

Christmas trees are usually cut in the fields around the same time in late October/November, so the sooner they are taken home the sooner you can start to care for them properly. Beware, however, buying them too early or you might be left with nothing but bare branches by the big week. On the other hand you don't want to leave it so late that the best-shaped trees have been snapped up, and the ones left over have been stored for a prolonged period out of water, which means they may not last as long.

WHAT SORT OF TREE?

The classic tree of choice is the Norway Spruce, with its evocative pine scent and traditional pyramid shape, although the Blue Spruce is a popular alternative. If you'd like a tree that doesn't shed its needles so fast, a Nordmann Fir is a great option - their ability to hold on to their needles right up to Christmas suits them to more minimalist-style homes.

Whatever its variety, the colour of the needles should be a dark green rather than washed-out and pale, and the tree should be evenly proportioned: not too dense at the bottom nor too sparse at the top, and no big gaps in between the branches. Also choose one that isn't pre-wrapped in netting so you can get a better idea of its shape.

CUT TREE OR POT-GROWN?

Trees should be newly cut when you purchase them, however you can't always guarantee this so one way to give your tree a boost is to keep it outside in a bucket of water for a day or two, after sawing an inch off the bottom of the trunk to improve its water uptake. As cut trees are the same as cut flowers, don't forget to water them - roughly one to two litres per day. As for container-grown trees, after Christmas they can be re-potted or planted outside so you can enjoy it again for next year, although they're unlikely to last much longer than that, and that's provided you've enough space in your garden!

GENERAL TREE TIPS:

★ Think about where you have room to place the tree before buying one. If the only suitable spot is next to a heater for example, you might need a smaller tree to fit into a more suitable area.

★ Try to reign in your enthusiasm and don't go too overboard on height. Keep in mind that the stand can add six inches in height, not to mention the star or fairy at the top.

★ For the healthiest and freshest tree, patronise an established tree farm or somewhere that brings in trees from local farms.

★ Ideally use LED lights to decorate the tree, as they emit less heat and are better for the environment.

★ If you've any glass ornament decorations, keep them higher on the tree to prevent children or pets knocking them off and breaking them.

★ When Christmas is over dispose of your tree responsibly. You could even chop it up into small pieces to put straight into your compost heap for the new year.

12 BEERS OF CHRISTMAS

Black Sheep - Blitzen (4%)

Although it's only been around since 2014, this limited-edition brew has become a festive favourite for beer lovers around the country. With orange and mixed peels offsetting the Cascade and Goldings hops, it's an exceptional after-dinner drop.

Beavertown - Smog Rocket (5.4%)

This hearty porter from the fashionable London microbrewery uses nine different malts, including a good hit of smoked 'Rauchmaltz' from Germany. The resulting flavour, with hints of molasses and caramel, pairs the beer well with rich desserts.

Cheddar Ales - Festive Totty (4.7%)

Available as a seasonal only in November and December, this ale will leave you yearning for it in the ensuing months thanks in no small part to the ruby port used in its brewing, which delivers a cockle-warming glow every time.

Harvey's - Christmas Ale (7.5%)

This complex brew, with strong malt and chestnut flavours, is more a dark barley wine recalling the robust 'stock ales' drunk during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, and should be treated with respect it deserves.

Ilkley Brewery -

Mary Christmas (4.7%)

With its "peace beer with you" tagline, and a brewing ingredients list encompassing cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg and vine-fruit, this ale is simply Christmas in a glass. A great alternative to wine to accompany the turkey dinner.

M&S - Greenwich Winter Spiced Porter (5.5%)

A full-flavoured and well-balanced porter with aromatic cinnamon and spice notes. It matches up with most festive dishes, be it savoury and sweet, but goes down particularly well with an after-dinner cheeseboard or a rich, fruity pudding.

Marble Brewery -

Chocolate Marble (5.5%)

This unclassifiable beer - could be a mild or a porter - is Marble's longest standing recipe. Brewed with an emphasis on chocolate malts, it combines flavours of cocoa, coffee and licorice with a quenching bitter finish.

Moor - Old Freddy Walker (7.4%)

One of the more celebrated festive ales, lauded Winter Beer of Britain and one of CAMRA's '300 Beers To Try Before You Die', its blend of pale and black malts with a hint of orange matches it well with chocolates or Christmas pud.

Shepherd Neame -

Christmas Ale (5%)

Available throughout November and December, this classic drop from Britain's oldest brewer uses Target and Challenger hops for bitterness and Goldings for aroma, resulting in a brew boasting notes of vanilla and spices and a heady, fruity nose.

St Peter's - Christmas Ale (7%)

A fruity, full-bodied beer in the finest English strong ale tradition, with notes of dried fruits, spices and orange peel. Served either at room temperature or slightly chilled, it's a great companion for savouries, sweets and snacks. (St Peter's also do Merry Elf, which at 4.5% is a lighter sister ale).

Theakston -

Christmas Ale (4.7%)

Another seasonal beer which effectively blends its hops with raisins and cinnamon for an evocative taste, which will bring out the best flavours of almost any food its paired with but in particular strong cheeses.

Williams Brothers - Nollaig (7%)

This special festive spruce beer is a limited annual release, exhibiting bronze hues and a rich malt backbone. Its bold combination of American hops with actual spruce sprigs makes it a truly authentic taste of Christmas.

BUY CHRISTMAS TRAIN TICKETS NOW TO SAVE CASH

Rail passengers planning to travel over the Christmas period are being urged to buy tickets now to save money.

A number of train operators are selling cheaper advanced tickets, which are quota-controlled so can quickly sell out.

Europe's leading independent train ticket retailer, Trainline (thetrainline.com), revealed that its customers saved £21.8 million last year by purchasing advance return tickets for travel between December 16-31 rather than buying tickets on the day of travel, excluding booking fees.

A survey of 2,000 British adults commissioned by the company found that expense is a source of frustration over the festive period for 39% of people, followed by family arguments (22%) and traffic jams (21%).

More than half (53%) of people prefer to travel by train over Christmas as they find it relaxing, while 40% want to avoid congestion on the roads. Almost one in four (24%) enjoy the option of catching up on sleep during the journey home, while 19% want the option of checking social media.

For any readers who embark from or return to London on their national journeys, here are the top 10 most popular routes for passengers who booked advance return tickets with Trainline for festive travel last year. The time saved travelling one way by train instead of car according to is in brackets.

1. Manchester Piccadilly to London Euston (one hour and 16 minutes)

FILMS: Hell or High Water will be shown at the arts centre on October 26 and Finding Dory will be on October 24

■ Friday, October 21 – Friday, October 28
■ There's still time to catch the kids from the New York High School of Performing Arts as they high-kick themselves, and hopefully the audience, into a frenzy with Centre Stage's production of Fame, the Musical. The action centres on a new group of kids but the drama and emotion from the film and the TV series remain. Expect lots of tights, sweatbands and high octane energy from the Haverhill group's latest production. It promises to be a back-to-the-80s blast!

■ Seann Walsh aka the Lie-in King returns to the arts centre on Sunday, October 23, with a brand new show. However dishevelled he may be, the Foster's Comedy Award nominee can spot the absurdity in everything and convert it to perfectly delivered stand-up comedy. You may have seen him on the TV but he's much better live. There are still a few tickets left, so call the box office as soon as possible.

■ On Monday, October 24, the arts centre has The Life & Music of Jim Reeves with Scottish husband and wife team Al and Isla Grant. Together they tell the story and perform the music of Gentleman Jim combining silky-voiced vocals with narration and video-screen footage. Again, tickets have almost sold out, so book soon to hear live such classics as Welcome to My World and He'll Have to Go.

■ There are two shows on Thursday, October 27: The Musicians of Bremen and The Entertainer. The Musicians of Bremen tells the initially heartbreaking but ultimately heart-warming story of four toys – a pull along dog, a one eyed cat, a mechanical cockerel and a worn out stuffed donkey – that nobody loves any more. Feeling thoroughly depressed at the lack of children in their lives they set off together and embark on an adventure which makes them forget their woes and become best friends forever. Sea Legs Puppet Theatre tell their tale with love, music and their usual innovative storytelling at 11.30am. Kenneth Branagh takes the title role in The Entertainer in a live broadcast from the Garrick Theatre of John Osborne's modern classic. Archie Rice is an anachronism, a music-hall performer whose act has passed its sell by date. His relationship with his family at home has also past its best. Watch this explosive examination of public masks and private torment at 7.15pm

■ Finding Dory (U) is a 'hello, again' to Dory from Finding Nemo. Voiced (in between chat-shows) by Ellen Degeneres, the amnesiac Blue Tang suddenly remembers some childhood memories and this prompts her to set out to find her family. The ocean is quite a big space to find mummy and daddy Blue Tang. Luckily she narrows the search down to California's Monterey Marine Life Institute and has the help of her old friends Nemo and Merlin. She also makes new ones like Hank the octopus and whale shark Destiny so you won't be surprised to learn there's a happy ending in store for Dory. Watch the family blockbuster on Monday, October 24, at 10.30am.

■ There's more family outing material with Kubo and the Two Strings (PG) on Wednesday, October 26, at 10.30am. Kubo is a young Japanese boy with some macabre relatives who overcomes his disadvantages to become a true hero. A beautifully animated modern legend.

■ Cillian Murphy and Jamie Dornan star in Anthropoid (15) a powerful thriller based on real events. In the Second World War a group of Czech resistance fighters plot to assassinate a high-ranking Nazi official. Watch it at 7.30pm.

■ Finally, the arts centre has Hell or High Water (15) in which two bank-robbing brothers are pursued across the blighted Texan badlands by a soon-to-be-retired sheriff and his long-suffering deputy. Starring Jeff Bridges and Chris Pine, it starts at 7.30pm.

■ Friday, October 21, 7.30pm Fame, The Musical. £13

■ Saturday, October 22, 2.30pm Fame, The Musical. £9/£10

■ Saturday, October 22, 7.30pm Fame, The Musical. £13

■ Sunday, October 23, 8pm Seann Walsh. £14

■ Monday, October 24, 10.30am Finding Dory (U). £4.50

■ Monday, October 24, 7.30pm The Life & Music of Jim Reeves. £19

■ Tuesday, October 25, 7.30pm Anthropoid (15). £6/£5

■ Wednesday, October 26, 10.30am Kubo and the Two Strings (PG). £4.50

■ Wednesday, October 26, 2pm Silverliners Line Dancing. £3

■ Wednesday, October 26, 7.30pm Hell or High Water (15). £6/£5

■ Thursday, October 27, 11.30am The Musicians of Bremen. £6, £5, £20

■ Thursday, October 27, 7.15pm The Entertainer. £15, £12.50, £10

Agency expands its network

ESTATE agency David Burr has announced a new dedicated service covering the Haverhill and Linton areas. Commercial growth in the area coupled with a market buoyed by significant demand from Cambridge and London buyers has seen prices rise consistently in recent years. In addition, with fast access to the M11 and Stansted airport, excellent schools and wonderful surrounding countryside it's no wonder the Suffolk/Cambridgeshire border is such a desirable destination. region's leading agents for successfully marketing individual properties and believes it is able to offer something new to the areas between Haverhill, Saffron Walden and Cambridge. With seven regional offices covering Cambridgeshire, Suffolk and Essex, The London Office on Pall Mall and an established reputation for honest, professional service, the agency is confident it can assist you with your next move. Managing director Nick Mills, pictured, believes it's a natural step in the group's expansion. "The benefit of having an established network of offices nearby is we already attract huge numbers of buyers from Cambridgeshire, Essex and London looking for value and a more rural lifestyle. He continues: "Whilst there are some excellent agents already established in the area we believe we offer something a little different, particularly for clients with individual properties requiring a high profile, national marketing campaign and a genuine hands-on service." CATERHAM: In Harrods livery

Caterham now offers car personalisation

CATERHAM has launched its first car personalisation programme, marking the event by creating an exclusive Seven designed by the famous department store, Harrods.

The special edition car showcases the wide variety of options that can be specified by customers through the new programme.

Buyers can choose from a breadth of paint colours and designs, as well as different dashboard materials and interior styling pieces.

The Harrods special edition car is priced at £55,999. Based upon Caterham's high-performance 420S, it is finished in Harrods green with a white and gold pinstripe combination. The Harrods Seven has gone on sale in the Harrods store in Knightsbridge, while the Caterham Signature programme is now open to orders.

Driverless cars wheeled out for first public trial

DRIVERLESS cars have been wheeled out for their first public trial in the UK successfully navigating a roaming dog and a distracted Pokemon Go player.

The autonomous electric vehicles were driven on the pedestrianised streets of Milton Keynes in tests which will pave the way for them to operate on to UK roads.

The two-seater test pod completed one-mile loops of Milton Keynes' pavements without a driver at the helm. Instead a technician sat behind the wheel in the event of an error.

Professor Paul Newman, from the Oxford Robotics Institute at Oxford University, which developed the vehicle's "brain", said the demonstration showed how automation can improve safety.

The father-of-two said: "We've had someone walking along playing Pokemon Go in front of it.

"The vehicle sees them then the vehicle stops and they didn't even see it. The vehicle doesn't get distracted.

"There are lots of mistakes these vehicles don't make – the four-year-old screaming in the back set – it doesn't get distracted.

"I think absolutely there are safety improvements. That's not surprising because technology makes improvements."

The car's computer senses its

OBJECT OF INTEREST: The two-seater Lutz makes a big impression in Milton Keynes last week surroundings using cameras and Lidar, a system similar to radar but using light from a laser.

They can then perform 20-30 calculations per second in an effort to decide the best course of action, Prof Newman added.

He said: "Somebody decided to hop in front of it, trying to have a bit of fun. Our safety driver hit the break but the vehicle was ahead of him – the pedal had been put down already."

The Society of Motor

Manufacturers and Traders' communications director, Tamzen Isacson, celebrated the trial.

She added: "This technology represents a huge opportunity for the UK with the potential to generate up to £51 billion per year by 2030 for our economy and prevent more than 25,000 serious accidents."

The vehicle, which is similar to a Smart car in appearance, is a test pod owned by Oxbotica, an offshoot company of the Oxford University.

It operates at speeds of up to 15mph without human assistance and follows routes from virtual maps without the aid of GPS, which is vulnerable to signal blackouts and interference.

Transport Systems Catapult (TSC), the not-for-profit research centre running the three-day trial near the Buckinghamshire town's train station, hailed the trial a "success".

Neil Fulton, programme director at TSC, said: "Driverless vehicles are coming to Britain and what we have demonstrated today is a huge step on that journey."

The test will feed into the Government-backed UK Autodrive project, which aims to promote advances in the field by getting fleets of driverless pods onto the pavements of Milton Keynes and Coventry in 2018.

Post-Brexit investment decisions – 15 new models 'hang by thread'

INVESTMENT decisions on 15 new car models in the UK are "hanging by a thread" as industry waits for the outcome of Brexit negotiations, a report warns.

Unite said hundreds of thousands of automotive and manufacturing jobs would be at risk unless the Government secures tariff free access to the European single market.

A study by the union said key investment decisions were due over the next two years on new car models ranging from the Honda Civic to the Range Rover Sport.

Unite urged the Government to protect workers' rights when the UK leaves the EU and said unions should be involved in Brexit negotiations.

General secretary Len McCluskey said: "The UK car

DOWN TIME: A trader despairs as the pound tumbles industry is the most productive in the EU. Yet the uncertainty of Brexit could seriously compromise the continued resurgence of this world class industry.

"Dozens of decisions, including new models to UK plants, must be made in the coming months. These crucial investment decisions will determine the future of the UK's car industry. Ministers' mixed signals on tariff free access to the single market, which consumes 80 per cent of the cars we produce, could leave our world class industry hanging by a thread.

"While many workers voted to leave the EU, they didn't do so to be out of work or see their living standards suffer and rights at work torn up through a 'Hard Brexit'.

"The Government's commitment to an industrial strategy is welcome, but it will not get out of the starting blocks unless our manufacturing sector receives tariff free access to the single market and the assistance and commitments it needs to invest in a Brexit Britain."

Student rise in car mobile use

AN alarming number of university students have admitted to using their mobile phones while behind the wheel, as well as speeding and drink-driving.

According to a survey of 2,313 young Europeans commissioned by Ford, 43 per cent said they had sent texts while driving, while 38 per cent used apps and 36 per cent answered phone calls.

An additional 60 per cent said they break the speed limit, while 13 per cent had admitted to drink-driving.

Comparatively, of those who left school at 18, 45 per cent said they speed, 9 per cent admitted to drink-driving and 41 per cent claimed to use their phone behind the wheel.

These findings come in light of earlier research from the World Health Organisation and the European Road Safety Observatory that found car crashes are the leading cause of death among young people.

Jim Graham at Ford Driving Skills for Life said: "It is crucial students, and all young people, to understand the terrible consequences."

Latest Discovery has 85% aluminium body

THE new Land Rover Discovery has been unveiled, featuring seven full-sized adult seats and an updated exterior design.

The fifth generation of the 4x4 has been designed with families in mind while also keeping the all-terrain capability the model is well known for. Therefore, there are nine USB ports and in-car wi-fi, as well as an intelligent full-time four-wheel-drive system and off-road driving assistance technology.

Its new aluminium construction saves an impressive 480kg from the outgoing model, with 85 per cent of the body made from the lightweight material.

The exterior design has been overhauled to bring the new Discovery in line with the rest of the Land Rover range, but the overall shape is familiar. Trademark features such as the stepped roofline remain, while the narrow headlights and grille are familiar from existing cars such as Discovery Sport and Evoque.

Speaking about how the design team approached reinventing such an iconic car, Jeremy Hicks, managing director of Jaguar Land

LAND ROVER LATEST: Fifth-generation Discovery priced from £42,495

Rover, said: "The underpinning value of a Discovery is the authenticity of its capability – the car that can climb up a mountainside and wade through rivers.

"And then there's the versatility – the car that can tow 3.5 tonnes, have all the seats folded and carry whatever you want, wherever you want. The trick has been to take that, keep it, but put it in a new body."

Six hundred First Edition models are being made available from launch. These feature three unique exterior colours, bespoke interior trim and 22-inch alloy wheels.

The new Discovery will be available in the UK in the spring of next year with prices starting at £42,495. First Edition models will be the most expensive, priced from £68,295.

MAZDA MX-5 RF: From £22,195

Mazda unveils the latest MX-5, the RF

MAZDA has revealed the pricing and specifications for its new MX-5 RF.

Fitted with a retractable folding roof, the MX-5 RF is priced from £22,195.

A special edition car will be available at launch, in the form of the Launch Edition MX-5 RF. This is limited to 500 units, but brings with it unique styling elements and additional equipment.

The Launch Edition is powered by a 2.0-litre petrol engine, and is differentiated from the rest of the range through a twin-tone roof, BBS wheels and a black rear spoiler. Inside, the RF's seats are trimmed in Alcantara.

The standard car still has a huge amount of standard equipment including a limited-slip differential and 17-inch alloy wheels."

Pre-orders for are now open.

How to improve a car's performance by 70%

The effectiveness consultancy Benchmarking recently analysed what happens when companies include press advertising in their media mix.

They looked at more than 500 econometric models, covering a five-year period and, as the table here shows, they found that adding newspapers dramatically increases the effectiveness of other media.

In the automotive sector they reviewed companies that ranged from the big spending German giants of the industry to medium sized independent carmakers.

And they discovered that by adding newspaper advertising to their campaigns, they cranked up their effectiveness by over 70%.

Increased effectiveness using newspapers

Retail	Automotive	Finance
2.8x	1.7x	5.7x

So, whatever the size your business or budget, get motoring into newspapers.

GUTTER CLEARING SERVICE

Do your gutters have fallen leaves, sand, mud and other debris in them? Most do, as with every rainfall the debris is washed into them from your roof top.

Do you want to save yourself the expensive repairs associated with the damage blocked gutters can cause to your home?

Regular clearing helps to prevent blocked gutters which can lead to costly repairs from burst pipes and water damage to your house structure.

Contact James on 01480 831970 (Evenings) or 07471164278 (Daytime) for an honest, reliable gutter clearing service. Prices start at £20 a house. Appointment times and quotations are available on request. Public liability insurance held and CRB checked.

Research Nurse (Fixed Term)

MRC Cancer Unit • £28,982 - £37,768

The post holder will be based here in Cambridge working within an established translational research programme headed by Professor Rebecca Fitzgerald, focusing on screening for Barrett's Oesophagus and Oesophageal Carcinogenesis with a goal to better understand the molecular pathogenesis of the disease and hence to improve patient management. The BEST3 trial will be comparing the Cytosponge-TFF3 test with usual care to facilitate the diagnosis of oesophageal pre-cancer in primary care. This multicentre trial is designed to assess whether systematic, non-endoscopic investigation of patients presenting to their General Practitioner with reflux predominant symptoms is an effective triage test to increase the diagnosis of Barrett's oesophagus (BE) without unduly burdening the clinical service.

The role is an active nursing role with direct patient contact with particular emphasis on recruitment, sample collection, data entry and study co-ordination. The post holder will work within an established team of clinicians, researchers, research nurses and administrators and will involve some UK travel for which expenses will be reimbursed. The post holder should demonstrate flexibility and adaptability to help meet the objectives of the study.

ONE LAST JOB

The gripping story of Brian Reader,
Britain's most prolific, old-school crook

Branded 'The Master' and 'a Gentleman Thief' Brian is a true British crime character. Gang insiders, family, friends and detectives talk for the first time about Reader's six-decade career. The authors reveal the Hatton Garden gang's links to an unsolved gangland murder, bent cops, police supergrasses and an alleged establishment cover-up. The book also includes new details about Basil, dubbed 'The Ghost' after he became the only gang member to escape justice.

How does an ordinary housewife become a notorious international criminal?

When Anne Darwin told the world - and her family - that her husband, John, had disappeared while canoeing in the North Sea, her life changed forever. She had just lied to the police, the press, her friends and neighbours and her own sons. While her husband hid next door, Anne claimed the life insurance - then left with him to start a new life in Panama. For the first time, Anne opens up about her part in the scheme; her marriage, her harrowing time behind bars and the runaway train of lies that followed their plan to defraud insurance companies with the aid of a canoe.

Impressive Rovers enjoy cup triumph

HAVERHILL Rovers beat Hadleigh United 4-0 at home in the Suffolk Premier Cup in one of their most impressive performances of late.

It was the first time Rovers had scored four goals since they last played Hadleigh three weeks earlier, and it was the first time they kept a clean sheet for nearly two months.

Rovers went ahead in Tuesday's match after 10 minutes through Rory Jebb.

The lead was doubled in the 31st minute when Luke Haines took full advantage of some sloppy play by the Hadleigh defence and fired a low half volley past their keeper.

The game was then put beyond Hadleigh's reach in the 58th minute when Danny Hill stole possession, beat the last defender and then tucked the ball between the Hadleigh keeper and the near post to make it 3-0.

Hadleigh had chances to reduce the deficit but were either thwarted by the woodwork or Rovers keeper Charlie Turner.

Hill then rounded off a good win when he scored his second, and Rovers fourth, in the 88th minute.

Last Saturday, Rovers saw a 2-0 lead slip as they suffered a 3-2 loss at Ipswich Wanderers in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Jebb put Rovers in front after just five minutes, and although Wanderers responded by piling on the pressure, the crossbar came to Rovers' rescue.

The visitors then doubled their lead in the 26th minute when Haines' diagonal ball to Oliver Stevenson was played back to Jebb who clipped the ball past the Ipswich keeper for his second goal.

The hosts pulled a goal back in the 38th minute to make it 2-1 at the interval, and they equalised three minutes into the second half with a penalty.

Things got even worse for Rovers when the home side grabbed the winner with just four minutes left.
